WILLOCKS, Presiding Judge

¶ 1 THIS MATTER is before the Court for review sua sponte.

BACKGROUND

¶ 2 On March 18, 2016, Plaintiff Betsaida Santiago and Plaintiff Sheldon Hendrickson, on their own and as next of friend for their child LH (hereinafter “Plaintiffs”) filed a verified complaint against Defendant Virgin Islands Government Hospital and Health Facilities

<sup>1</sup> The “Virgin Islands Government Hospitals and Health Facilities” is the correct name, and not the “Virgin Islands Hospitals and Health Facilities Corporation.” See Title 19 V.I.C. § 243(a) (“There is hereby created the Virgin Islands Government Hospitals and Health Facilities Corporation. The corporation is a body corporate and politic constituting a public benefit corporation of the Government of the Virgin Islands.”). As such, the Court will amend the caption to correctly reflect the name of Defendant Virgin Islands Government Hospitals and Health Facilities. See V.I. R. CIV. P. 15-2 (“The court may amend any process or pleading for any omission or defect therein, or for any variance between the complaint and the evidence adduced at the trial.”).

Corporation (hereinafter “Defendant”)<sup>2</sup> in connection with the medical treatment Plaintiffs’ child LH (hereinafter “LH”) received as a minor in December 2014 at Governor Juan F. Luis Hospital and Medical Center (hereinafter “Hospital”). In their complaint, Plaintiffs alleged, inter alia: (i) Plaintiffs are the parents of LH. (Compl. ¶¶ 2-3); (ii) LH was born on December 8, 2014 at the Hospital. (Compl. ¶ 5); (iii) LH was fed defective and expired formula at the Hospital. (Compl. ¶ 6); (iv) “When the [H]ospital discharged [Plaintiff Betsaida Santiago and LH,] it gave them a bag of items including expired dry milk formula that was contaminated with parasites.” (Compl. ¶ 8); (v) “The [H]ospital had discovered that [LH] had parasites before discharge, but failed to culture them and treated her with the wrong medication.” (Compl. ¶ 9); (vi) Plaintiffs had to take LH to another physician for testing and treatment of parasites. (Compl. ¶¶ 11-13); and (vii) “As a result Plaintiff[s] suffered damages.” (Compl. ¶¶ 18, 21.) The complaint did not specify the name(s) of the cause of action(s) Plaintiffs are pursuing against Defendant, but based on the allegations, the Court deduced that Plaintiffs alleged the following causes of action against Defendant: Count I-negligence<sup>3</sup> and Count II-products liability.<sup>4</sup>

¶ 3 This matter is currently scheduled for a status conference on June 16, 2022.

<sup>2</sup> Plaintiffs initially named “Government of the Virgin Islands through the Juan F. Luis Hospital and Medical Center” as the defendant in the complaint, but subsequently, the caption was amended by the parties and “Virgin Islands Hospitals and Health Facilities Corporation” was substituted in as the defendant in place of “Government of the Virgin Islands through the Jan F. Luis Hospital and Medical Center.” On August 28, 2020, “Virgin Islands Hospitals and Health Facilities Corporation” filed an answer in response to the complaint. An amended complaint was never filed to reflect such substitution of the defendant. The Court will grant nunc pro tunc such substitution of “Virgin Islands Hospitals and Health Facilities Corporation” as the defendant in place of “Government of the Virgin Islands through the Juan F. Luis Hospital and Medical Center.”

<sup>3</sup> For Count I, Plaintiffs alleged that Plaintiffs “re-alleges all allegations contained in and stated in paragraphs 1-15 of this Complaint,” that Defendant “and its employees, contractors and agents provided services below the standard of care in violation of the malpractice statute,” and “[a]s a result Plaintiff[s] suffered damages as alleged herein.” (Compl. ¶¶ 16-18.)

<sup>4</sup> For Count II, Plaintiffs alleged that Plaintiffs “re-alleges all allegations contained in and stated in paragraphs 1-18 of this Complaint,” that Defendant “provided plaintiff with a defective product, to wit the contaminated formula/milk,” and “[a]s a result [P]laintiffs suffered damages as alleged herein.” (Compl. ¶¶ 19-21.)

DISCUSSION

¶ 4 Based on the allegations in the complaint, the Court finds that Plaintiffs' claims may implicate the Virgin Islands Medical Malpractice Act (hereinafter "VIMMA") and the Virgin Islands Torts Claim Act (hereinafter "VITCA").

1. VIMMA

a. Whether the VIMMA is Applicable

¶ 5 As an initial matter, the Court must determine whether Plaintiffs' claims constitute medical malpractice for purposes of the VIMMA. Under the VIMMA, medical malpractice "means any tort or breach of contract based on health care or professional services rendered, or which should have been rendered by a health care provider, to a patient," Title 27 V.I.C. § 166(f), health care "means any act, or treatment performed or furnished, or which should have been performed or furnished, by any health care provider for, to, or on behalf of a patient during the patient's medical care, treatment or confinement," Title 27 V.I.C. § 166(b), and health care provider "means a person, corporation, facility or institution who must be licensed by this territory to provide health care or professional medical services including a medical, osteopathic, chiropractic or naturopathic physician, hospital, dentist, registered or licensed practical nurse to include the Advanced Practice Registered Nurse, optometrist, podiatrist, physical therapist, psychologist, paramedical personnel, emergency medical technician, pharmacist and laboratory technician," Title 27 V.I.C. § 166(c). Here, Plaintiffs' claims are torts based on health care or professional services rendered by the Hospital, a health care provider managed by Defendant, to LH, as a patient. Thus, Plaintiffs' claims constitute medical malpractice as defined by the VIMMA and is subject to the requirements of the VIMMA.

b. Pre-Filing Requirements of the VIMMA

¶ 6 The VIMMA establishes a pre-filing jurisdictional requirement before a plaintiff may commence a medical malpractice action under the jurisdiction of the Superior Court. Daley-Jeffers v. Graham, 69 V.I. 931, 936 (V.I. 2018) (citing Brady v. Cintron, 55 V.I. 802, 815 (V.I. 2011) (concluding that section 166i imposes pre-filing jurisdictional limitations on the Superior Court's ability to hear medical malpractice claims)). More specifically, the VIMMA provides that “[n]o action against a health care provider may be commenced in court before the claimant’s proposed complaint has been filed with the [Medical Malpractice Action Review] Committee and the [Medical Malpractice Action Review] Committee has received the expert opinion as required by this section, provided, that if said opinion is not received by the [Medical Malpractice Action Review] Committee within ninety days from the date the complaint was filed with the [Medical Malpractice Action Review] Committee, the claimant may commence his action against the health care provider in court.” Title 27 V.I.C. § 166i(b). “The proposed complaint shall be deemed filed when a copy is delivered or mailed by registered or certified mail to the Commissioner of Health.” Title 27 V.I.C. § 166i(c). In Brady, the Virgin Islands Supreme Court noted that “[t]he purpose of the MMA and the Committee review process is to eliminate claims lacking merit and encourage prompt settlement of meritorious claims” and “[i]t specifically seeks to prevent actions from being filed in courts until after the statutory requirements of the MMA are fulfilled.” 55 V.I. at 813 (internal quotation marks and citation omitted); see Title 27 V.I.C. § 166i(a) (“There is established within the Office of the Commissioner of Health a Medical Malpractice Action Review Committee (referred to in the rest of this section as “the Committee”) the purpose of which shall be to arrange for expert review of all malpractice claims before actions based upon such claims are commenced in court.”). The Brady decision was the controlling precedent in effect at the time Plaintiffs filed their complaint.

¶ 7 Here, there is no indication from the complaint that Plaintiffs have complied with the pre-filing requirements of the VIMMA. Thus, it is unclear whether the Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this matter. “It is well established that a court may consider the issue of subject matter jurisdiction sua sponte. This is because, prior to considering the merits of a matter before it, a court is obligated to examine whether it has subject matter jurisdiction over the dispute.” Clarke v. Lopez, 73 V.I. 512, ¶ 9 (V.I. 2020) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted); see V.I. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3) (“If the court determines at any time that it lacks subject-matter jurisdiction, the court must dismiss the action.”).<sup>5</sup> As such, the Court will grant Plaintiffs leave to amend their complaint to include allegations regarding the pre-filing requirements of the VIMMA. Given that the pre-filing requirements of the VIMMA concerns the Court’s subject matter jurisdiction over this matter, the Court will require Plaintiffs to plead facts demonstrating their compliance with the pre-filing jurisdictional requirements of the VIMMA, such as the date they filed a proposed complaint with the Medical Malpractice Action Review Committee and the date the expert opinion was received (or that ninety days has elapsed since the filing of their proposed complaint)<sup>6</sup> so that the Court can “examine whether it has subject matter jurisdiction over the dispute,” Clarke, 73 V.I. 512, ¶ 9; a single conclusory allegation that Plaintiffs have complied with all the pre-filing jurisdictional requirements of the VIMMA will not suffice. Alternatively, if Plaintiffs did not comply with all the pre-filing jurisdictional requirements of the VIMMA, Plaintiffs should plead facts indicating why they are not required to comply.

<sup>5</sup> Plaintiffs filed their complaint before March 31, 2017, the effective date of the Virgin Islands Rules of Civil Procedure. Pursuant to Rule 1-1 of the Virgin Islands Rules of Civil Procedure, the new rules govern all civil actions pending on March 31, 2017, unless the Supreme Court declares otherwise or a Superior Court judge “makes an express finding that applying” the new rules “in a particular previously-pending action would be infeasible or would work an injustice.” V.I. R. Civ. P. 1-1(c)(2)(B). Given that there is no difference between Rule 12(h)(3) of the Federal Rules and the Virgin Islands Rules, the Court finds that the Virgin Islands Rules apply here.

<sup>6</sup> The VIMMA provides that “[u]pon receipt by the [Medical Malpractice Action Review] Committee of an expert opinion, the Commissioner of Health shall immediately forward a copy of the opinion to the plaintiff and defendant.” Title 27 V.I.C. § 166i(d)(4).

2. VITCA

a. Whether the VITCA is Applicable

¶ 8 The Revised Organic Act grants sovereign immunity to the Government of the Virgin Islands for tort claims. See Title 48 U.S.C. § 1541(b) (“That no tort action shall be brought against the government of the Virgin Islands or against any officer or employee thereof in his official capacity without the consent of the legislature constituted by this Act [48 USCS § 1541 et seq..”). “The VITCA provides the mechanism by which persons may sue the Government in tort in the courts of the Virgin Islands.” Fleming v. Cruz, 62 V.I. 702, 718 (V.I. 2015); see Title 33 V.I.C. § 3408(a) (“Subject to the provisions of section 3416 of this chapter, the Government of the United States Virgin Islands hereby waives its immunity from liability and action and hereby assumes liability with respect to injury or loss of property or personal injury or death caused by the negligent or wrongful act or omission of an employee of the Government of the United States Virgin Islands while acting within the scope of his office or employment, under circumstances where the Government of the United States Virgin Islands, if a private person, would be liable to the claimant in accordance with the law of the place where the act or omission occurred. The Government consents to have the liability determined in accordance with the same rule of law as applied to actions in the courts of the Virgin Islands against individuals or corporations; Provided, That the claimant complies with the provisions of this chapter.”). Here, Plaintiffs sued the “Government of the Virgin Islands” when they sued Defendant. See Title 33 V.I.C. § 3401 (“As used in this chapter, the term: ‘Government of the Virgin Islands’ includes... the Virgin Islands Government Hospitals and Health Facilities Corporation... [and] ‘Employee of the Government’ includes elected or appointed officials, employees, members of Governing Boards and Commissions and other persons acting on behalf of the Government of the United States Virgin Islands.”). As such, the VITCA is applicable to the facts of this case.

b. Pre-Filing Requirements of the VITCA

¶ 9 The VITCA provides:

No judgment shall be granted in favor of any claimant unless such claimant shall have complied with the provisions of this section applicable to his claim:

[A] claim to recover damages for injuries to property or for personal injury caused by the tort of an officer or employee of the Government of the United States Virgin Islands while acting as such officer or employee, shall be filed within ninety days after the accrual of such claim unless the claimant shall within such time file a written notice of intention to file a claim therefor, in which event the claim shall be filed within two years after the accrual of such claim.

Title 33 V.I.C. § 3409(c).

The VITCA further provides the requirements concerning the claim or the notice of intention:

The claim or notice of intention shall be filed in the Office of the Governor and a copy shall be served upon the Attorney General and a written receipt therefor shall be issued with the date of filing indicated thereon. The claim shall state the time when and the place where such claim arose, the nature of same, and items of damage or injuries claimed to have been sustained and the total sum claimed. The notice of intention to file a claim shall set forth the same matters except that the items of damage or injuries and the sum claimed need not be stated. The claim and notice of intention to file a claim shall be verified.

Title 33 V.I.C. § 3410.

¶ 10 The Court recognizes that, unlike the VIMMA, the Virgin Islands Supreme Court has not yet determined whether the pre-filing requirements of the VITCA are jurisdictional or claims processing rules. See e.g., Alexander v. Wilson, 73 V.I. 528 ¶ 13 (“It remains an issue of first impression in the Virgin Islands whether the pertinent provisions of the VITCA are jurisdictional, or claims-processing rules which may be waived.”); Fleming, 62 V.I. at 718 n.13 (“In this case, we do not decide whether the VITCA’s claim-filing requirements are jurisdictional... We leave a decision on whether the VITCA’s claim-filing mandates are jurisdictional for another day.”). However, in Richardson v. Knud Handesen Mem’l Hosp., 744 F. 2d 1007, 1010 (3d Cir. 1984), the Third Circuit Court of Appeals held that compliance with the pre-filing requirements under the VITCA are jurisdictional, and Richardson remains binding on the Virgin Islands Superior Court.

See e.g., Yuxiang Peng v. Williams, 67 V.I. 482, 485, n.2 (V.I. Super. Ct. July 24, 2017);<sup>7</sup>

In Richardson, the Third Circuit Court of Appeals — exercising its power as the final arbiter of Virgin Islands local law — held that the terms under which the Government of the Virgin Islands consented to waive its immunity from tort liability, as embodied in the VITCA, are jurisdictional and “It follows that the terms may not be waived.” 744 F.2d at 1010. The Supreme Court of the Virgin Islands has made it clear that decisions rendered by the Third Circuit while serving as the de facto court of last resort in the Virgin Islands “are binding upon the Superior Court of the Virgin Islands even if they would only represent persuasive authority when [the Supreme Court] considers an issue.” Najawicz v. People of the Virgin Islands, 58 V.I. 315, 327-28 (V.I. 2013) (internal citation omitted); see also In re People of the Virgin Islands, 51 V.I. 374, n.9 (V.I. 2009). Thus, the Third Circuit’s holding in Richardson remains binding on this Court.

The Court notes that, while the case in Richardson originated in the District Court of the Virgin Islands in 1980, the District Court was acting as a territorial court when it adjudicated Richardson’s claim for wrongful death. See Callwood v. Enos, 230 F.3d 627, 43 V.I. 293, 297-98 (3d Cir. 2000) (The District Court of the Virgin Islands used to have general original jurisdiction over all civil actions arising under territorial law in which the amount in controversy was more than $500); see also Carty v. Beech Aircraft Corp., 679 F.2d 1051, 1057, 19 V.I. 641 (3d Cir. 1982) (characterizing jurisdiction of the District Court of the Virgin Islands under the Revised Organic Act prior to the 1984 amendments as “more like a state court of general jurisdiction than a United States district court.”). For a detailed description of the development of the judiciary of the Virgin Islands, see James-St. Jules v. Thompson, 2015 V.I. LEXIS 74, at *16-20.

67 V.I. 482, 485, n.2 (V.I. Super. Ct. July 24, 2017).

Furthermore, the Court notes that in this instance, the Court need not undertake a Banks analysis concerning the VITCA because it is an issue of statutory interpretation rather than a determination of common law. See In re L.O.F., 62 V.I. 655, 661 n.6 (V.I. 2015) (The Supreme Court of the Virgin Islands has established that a Banks analysis is not required for statutory interpretation.); see also, Smith v. Henley, 67 V.I. 965, 970 n.2 (V.I. 2017) (“A Banks analysis was unnecessary, however, because the issue here is purely a matter of statutory interpretation, not common law.”); Banks v. Int’l Rental & Leasing Corp., 55 V.I. 967 (V.I. 2011). Additionally, the Court also notes that in Wallace v. People of the V.I., the Virgin Islands Supreme Court reaffirmed that “[i]t is true that prior decisions of the Appellate Division remain binding upon the Superior Court unless overturned by this Court.” 71 V.I. 703, 738 n.5 (V.I. 2019) (citing Defoe v. Phillip, 56 V.I. 109, 119 (V.I. 2012) (“This Court is not required to follow ... decisions of the District Court or the Third Circuit interpreting local Virgin Islands law. In addition to previously holding that decisions of our predecessor court, the Appellate Division of the District Court of the Virgin Islands, are not binding on us, we have also recently held that this Court — unlike the Superior Court — is not compelled to treat the Third Circuit’s interpretation of Virgin Islands law as binding precedent: ‘Although the establishment of this Court has changed the relationship between the local Virgin Islands judiciary and the Third Circuit, this Court’s creation did not erase pre-existing case law, and thus precedent that was extant when the Court became operational continues unless and until this Court address the issues discussed there. Accordingly, decisions rendered by the Third Circuit and the Appellate Division of the District Court are binding upon the Superior Court even if they would only represent persuasive authority when this court considers an issue.’” (quoting Judi’s of St. Croix Car Rental v. Weston, 49 V.I. 396, 403 n.7 (V.I. 2008); In re People of the V.I., 51 V.I. 374, 389 n.9 (V.I. 2009))). The Court is nevertheless cognizant that, in Hamed v. Hamed, the Virgin Islands Supreme Court held that “decisions of the Appellate Division and the Third Circuit addressing issues of Virgin Islands common law are no longer binding on the Superior Court,” 63 V.I. 529, 535 (V.I. 2015) (citing Gov’t of the V.I. v. Connor, 60 V.I. 597, 605 n.1 (V.I. 2014)), and that “decisions issued by the Appellate Division after 2007, like decisions of the District Court or Third Circuit heard through diversity or supplemental jurisdiction, are not binding on the Superior Court,” 63 V.I. at 535 (citing Better Bldg. Maint. of the V.I., Inc. v. Lee, 60 V.I. 740, 755-56 (V.I. 2014); Walters v. Walters, 60 V.I. 768, 777 n.10 (V.I. 2014); People v. Simmonds, 56 V.I. 84, 90 (V.I. Super. Ct. 2012); Edwards v. HOVENSA, LLC, 497 F.3d 355, 359-61 (3d Cir. 2007)). However, Richardson did not concern common law and it was issued prior to 2007. As such, until the Virgin Islands Supreme Court explicitly declares that all decisions of the Appellate Division and the Third Circuit are no longer

Christopher v. Gov. Juan F. Luis Hosp. & Med. Ctr., 2016 165, *11 (V.I. Super. Ct. Oct. 12, 2016) (“despite any contrary intimations from the Supreme Court, this Court is bound by the Third Circuit's precedent in Richardson, and must consider challenges to the VITCA' s pre-filing requirements as challenges to subject matter jurisdiction unless and until the Supreme Court of the Virgin Islands conclusively determines otherwise”); Hansen v. Gov. Juan F. Luis Hosp. & Med. Ctr., 2018 V.I. LEXIS 87, *9 (V.I. Super. Ct. June 22, 2018). The Richardson decision was the controlling precedent in effect at the time Plaintiffs filed their complaint.

¶ 11 Here, there is no indication from the complaint that Plaintiffs have complied with the pre-filing requirements of the VITCA. Thus, it is unclear whether the Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this matter. As noted above, the Court may raise the issue of its own jurisdiction sua sponte. See Clarke v. Lopez, 73 V.I. 512, ¶ 9 (V.I. 2020) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted); see also, V.I. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3). As such, the Court will grant Plaintiffs leave to amend their complaint to include allegations regarding the pre-filing requirements of the VITCA. Given that the pre-filing requirements of the VITCA concerns the Court's subject matter jurisdiction over this matter, the Court will require Plaintiffs to plead facts demonstrating their compliance with the pre-filing jurisdictional requirements of the VITCA, such as the date the claim or the notice of intention was “filed in the Office of the Governor” and the date a copy was “served upon the Attorney General” so that the Court can “examine whether it has subject matter jurisdiction over the dispute,” Clarke, 73 V.I. 512, ¶ 9; a single conclusory allegation that Plaintiffs have complied with all the pre-filing jurisdictional requirements of the VITCA will not suffice. Alternatively, if Plaintiffs did not comply with all the pre-filing jurisdictional requirements of the VITCA, Plaintiffs should plead facts indicating why they are not required to comply.

binding on the Virgin Islands Superior Court or definitively proclaims that the pre-filing requirements of the VITCA are not jurisdictional, the Court continues to find Richardson binding.

CONCLUSION

¶ 12 Based on the foregoing, the Court will grant Plaintiff leave to amend their complaint and vacate the status conference scheduled on June 16, 2022. The Court will determine whether the Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this matter based on Plaintiffs' submission. Accordingly, it is hereby:

ORDERED that, within thirty (30) days from the date of entry of this Memorandum Opinion and Order, Plaintiffs shall file a proposed first amended complaint and plead facts demonstrating their compliance with the pre-filing jurisdictional requirements of the VIMMA and the VITCA in accordance with this Memorandum Opinion and Order, or alternatively plead facts indicating why Plaintiffs are not required to comply. The proposed first amended complaint shall set forth count(s) in separate numbered paragraph(s) with separate designation(s) of the specific name of each count in the pleadings as required under Rule 8(a)(2) of the Virgin Islands Rules of Civil Procedure.<sup>8</sup> No other amendment is permitted without leave of the Court. Plaintiffs are notified that failure to file a proposed first amended complaint within the thirty-day deadline SHALL CONSTITUTE PLAINTIFFS' ADMISSION that the Court lack subject matter jurisdiction over this matter. It is further:

ORDERED that Plaintiffs shall file (i) a redline copy of the new proposed first amended complaint reflecting the changes made to the initial complaint and (ii) a clean copy of the new proposed first amended complaint, in compliant with Rule 15-1 of Virgin Islands Rules of Civil <sup>8</sup> See supra, footnote 5. Here, the Supreme Court has not directed that prior rules or practices will be applicable. Furthermore, given that there both Rule 8(a)(2) of the Virgin Islands Rules of Civil Procedure and Rule 8(a)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure both require "a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief" and that the local rule "eliminates the plausibility standard and instead will permit a complaint so long as it "adequately alleges facts that put an accused party on notice of claims brought against it," the Court does not find that applying the new rules would be infeasible or work an injustice. Brathwaite v. H.D.V.I. Holding Co., 2017 V.I. LEXIS 76, *3, (V.I. Super. Ct. May 24, 2017). Thus, the Court finds that the Rule 8(a)(2) of the Virgin Islands Rules of Civil Procedure applies here.

Procedure, which requires “[a] party moving to amend a pleading...[to] attach a complete—and properly signed—copy of the proposed amended pleading to the motion papers” and “must reproduce the entire pleading as amended specifically delineating the changes or additions and may not incorporate any prior pleading by reference.” V.I. R. Civ. P. 15-1.<sup>9</sup> It is further:

ORDERED that the status conference scheduled for June 16, 2022 is VACATED. It is further:

ORDERED that the substitution of “Virgin Islands Hospitals and Health Facilities Corporation” as the defendant in place of “Government of the Virgin Islands through the Juan F. Luis Hospital and Medical Center” is GRANTED NUNC PRO TUNC. And it is further:

ORDERED that the CAPTION IS AMENDED to reflect “Virgin Islands Government Hospitals and Health Facilities” in place of “Virgin Islands Hospitals and Health Facilities” and all future filings shall so reflect.

DONE and so ORDERED this 21st day of June, 2022.

<sup>9</sup> See supra, footnote 5. Here, the Supreme Court has not directed that prior rules or practices will be applicable. Furthermore, given that Rule 15-1 of the Virgin Islands Rules of Civil Procedure sets for the form, filing, and effect of the amended pleadings, the Court does not find that applying the new rules would be infeasible or work an injustice. Thus, the Court finds that the Rule 15-1 of the Virgin Islands Rules of Civil Procedure applies here.
